Would love a simple system, if the agent is not on vacation they are receiving tickets via round robin. I have found my team works more efficiently when issue ownership is involved. When you put a agents face on a ticket, they are more likely to quickly get the ticket addressed, rather than a ticket with no face in the unassigned bucket. Not to mention, with larger helpdesk teams it is important every agent pulls their weight, round robin is a great way to ensure fair ticket distribution.
