Option to have customers' timezone inherit from their organizations' time zone Collecting Feedback

Our clients are always in the same time zone as their parent organization. It would be great if we could default new clients to inherit from the parent organization. Or something similar, possibly per-organization so you could specify organizations where that wasn't true.

It would also be good to show timezone on the CRM people listing to quickly confirm if the person needs to be updated or not to the correct timezone instead of having to create and run a report to find this out.
