

Send e-mails when a community posting has x votes Collecting Feedback

- Thorsten Breuer
- Forum name: #Feature Request

We would like an option to send e-mails when a community posting has x votes? That would be useful for us because we can see from these votes what the customers want and then pass these feature requests issues on to development. Otherwise, we would have to monitor all topics manually, which is very time-consuming.