Login cookie from other system Collecting Feedback

Hi,

Is there a way to allow DeskPro to recognize another valid session cookie from another login system? We currently have WHMCS installed on a different subdomain from DeskPro, and want the user to be able to seamlessly access DeskPro without having to login again through DeskPro (we have database authentication enabled, which recognizes their WHMCS login, but they still need to login twice).

Basically, I want to know the format of the DeskPro login cookie so that I can set it automatically from WHMCS' area (I already know I have the ability to create custom PHP code on the WHMCS side of things) so that DeskPro recognizes it when the user goes to the DeskPro subdomain
