

I'm having trouble with resolved tickets creating new tickets when users reply

Question:

A user replied to a ticket that had been resolved. I'd expect their message to be added to the ticket thread, but instead a new ticket was created. What's going on?

Answer:

Check that the user did not reply from a different email address that is not associated with their account in Deskpro.

If they were definitely using the same address, the user probably did not have had permission to re-open a resolved ticket.

Under Admin > CRM > User Groups, check your settings for the "Can re-open resolved tickets" permission.

Properties | Permissions

<input type="checkbox"/> Tickets	<input type="checkbox"/> Chat	<input type="checkbox"/> Feedback	<input type="checkbox"/> Articles	<input type="checkbox"/> Downloads	<input type="checkbox"/> News
Can use tickets <input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
Can re-open resolved tickets <input type="checkbox"/>
How should the helpdesk handle an email reply to a resolved ticket?
<input checked="" type="radio"/> Reject · The message is rejected and the user is sent an auto-response
<input type="radio"/> New Ticket · The message is accepted as a new ticket

If none of the user's groups grants the permission to re-open resolved tickets, their message may be rejected or accepted as a new ticket.
