We do not have a specific ETA on this just yet, however this is something in development and we will be implementing this, along with twitter integration (and other social media). You can sign up to receive information on our Beta by following the link:

Deskpro's Facebook channel is now available as a communication channel for your helpdesk. This integration lets you connect your Business Facebook account to your helpdesk, incoming messages will be converted into tickets for agents to respond to from Deskpro's interface. For information about setting up this integration, see our Admin Guide:
