A selection from a field to display another field Finished

We are looking for the ability to select an option from a custom field which would drive the next field displayed in a form. Currently, the only fields that are supported are the built in fields of Category, Product and Priority. Can you please develop the ability to do this with any custom field.

 Example:

 An option from a custom multi-select field is selected and once selected a subsequent custom field is displayed.

 Thank you,

 Lu.
