You can now collapse and expand the user profile on Tickets and Community topics by clicking on the user's name in the properties. Hiding the User Profile will remove it from your view, giving you more space in the interface to interact with tickets or content.

We have made it easy to toggle the visibility of the profile. Just click the User's name to remove it from view, and if you want it to reappear, click their name again. This also works for viewing the profile of CC'd users on a ticket.

The ability to click through to an Organization from the User profile remains the same, just click on the organization from the profile when it is in view.

The screenshot displays a helpdesk interface with a sidebar on the left containing navigation links like 'Queues', 'My Inbox', 'Mine', 'I'm Following', 'My Team's', 'Starred', 'INBOX', 'Unassigned', 'Awaiting Agent', 'Pending', 'SLA Failed', 'Unassigned', 'Labelled', 'Open Problem', 'All Open', 'VIP Awaiting Agent', 'Lists', 'Search', 'Problems (5)', 'My Stars', and 'Labels'. The main area shows a ticket titled 'Change of address needed' with a status of 'Open' and a priority of 'High'. The ticket is assigned to 'Agatha Barile' (agathabarile@example.com). The conversation history includes a message from Hannah, a response from Agatha Barile asking for a call, an escalation message, and a final response from Agatha Barile. The interface also shows a 'Call Log' and a 'Signature' field for the agent.

We're introducing this feature to provide the additional ability to customize your workspace. Being able to toggle the User profile from view helps to keep your helpdesk interface as straightforward as possible, and provides a larger working area for Agents operating on smaller screens or in Card view.
