Landing page for Guides Finished

Currently when you go into the Guides area in the Help Center you land on the first Guide and then navigate to the others via the carousel.

This is okay if you have a handful of Guides but as soon as you add in a significant number it becomes very hard to manage.

It would be much more useful if there was a landing page similar to that with the Knowedgebase where you can see an overview of the Guides on the helpdesk and then select the one you wish to browse.
